OT 101/111 Study Guide (Exam II: Deuteronomy - Ruth)

Exam II will have the same format as Exam I. The exam period will be 1½ hours long, although you may leave early if you finish early. This exam is a unit exam, covering the material since the first exam, and covers the Bible reading, textbook readings, worksheets, and class lectures and discussions. It consists of 100 points, and its format is primarily objective. Below are some guidelines and sample questions. A good concordance, as well as a good Bible dictionary or encyclopedia, will help in studying for the exam.

1. Book Essay. There will be one essay question worth 20 points, in which you will discuss the general contents and major themes of one of the following books: JOSHUA or RUTH. You must be prepared to write on both, and one will be announced in class.

*2. Identification. In one sentence or less, identify the following person, place, event, doctrine, or phenomenon. (These are representative examples of what could appear on the test, but this list is not necessarily exhaustive.)

The quotations are either famous, significant passages that you should know, or else are representative (typical) of the genre, theme, or contents of the book in question. (The following is only an example of what could appear on the test.)

1. “In those days there was no king in Israel, everyone did what was right in his own eyes.”

*IV. Chapter Identification: In one sentence or less, identify the importance of each of the chapters of Scripture in the following list. Chapters joined by a hyphen are to be treated together, as one unit.
